HEARTBEAT OF

1987

Varied attentions are reflected in English.

Nick's spirits are lifted by the kiss of good luck

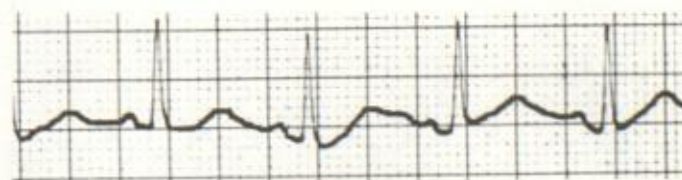

The heartbeat of Wayne Trace is the sustaining life force that kept 1987 pumping along. Throughout this year, we have all experienced the peaks of excitement, being the first school in Paulding County to travel to the state tournament in basketball, passing of the bond issue for the addition and the baseball team winning the GMC for the first time in the school's history. We also struggled through the lows: rooms colder than the outside temp., straddling the drip buckets in the hallways, Fruchey having to wet-vac the wall and choking through the plaster dust sifting down from the ceiling. In 1987, each of us has had our share of tears of happiness and sorrow, days when you just thought you couldn't get into trouble anymore, staring out the window during class and the surges of excitement during the pep sessions. So smile as you relive 1987 and always remember the beat goes on!!!

Although it may not seem so at the time, your high school days are the best of your whole life: carefree days, wild and crazy parties, shopping sprees (with mom and dad's money—of course!), senior early dismissal, and your very own car and set of keys. When your high school days are long over, many events will stand out in your mind, striving hard to get that A on one of Mr. Cox's exams, running around continually in the hall—(when you are supposedly working in the Guidance Office), watching Mr. McElroy's endless supply of films and filmstrips and coming to school hours early to buy your basketball tickets. But the most memorable thing about your high school days are the friendships that are formed. During the time as you grew from a little squirt to a "mature" graduate, these friends have stuck with you through the worst of times—getting a worm thrown on you at recess—and the best times—getting that special person's class ring.

But this is my locker—honest!

I'm sorry, but we're NOT going to change our minds!

S*CHOOL.* Immediately certain things come to mind: classrooms, teachers, test, and term papers. But those things are only the tip of the iceberg. Many activities and ideas mold WT life: Assemblies, extra-curricular activities, organizations, and dozens of friendships being formed everyday.

Spirit Is The Lifeblood of WT As Students Join In The Pulse of Raider Life

Watch out, Duane, Red is on the loose.

Come on, Chris, don't be shy—smile!

Granted, high school life can be very stressful and tedious. With term papers, book reports, and Spanish and chemistry tests all in the same week, everything can seem a bit overwhelming. But a little bit of "lunch-time lounging" and just goofing around helps to relieve the tension. Whether it's playing basketball, watching that special someone, or just shooting the breeze with your friends, that 30 minutes makes the rest of that terrible day bearable. And with a lunch of pizza (meat, cheese and Twix bar—the national lunch at WT) what couldn't you face the rest of the afternoon.

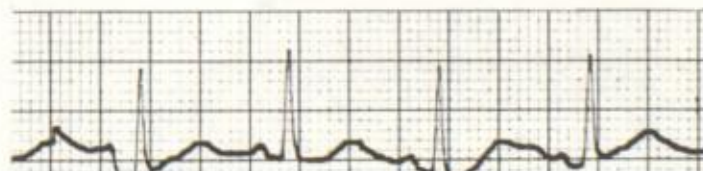

The Perfect Couple!

Hey, look, Mark, We are actually gonna be in the yearbook!

The things I do for my Dad!

Raiders Combine Speed Ticket On Dayton First Trip Ever To

And Defense to Win Express— State Tourney

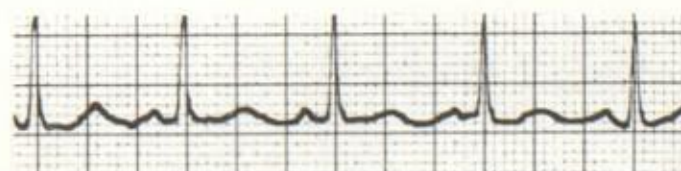

The dream, fantasy, goal of every coach and player came true this year as the Raiders earned their first-ever berth in the State Tournament. A victory over Archbold bought them the ticket on the Dayton Express. After a rousing rally the team and fans headed south for the Dayton Arena and the match-up with Wynford. The game see-sawed as each team would spurt to a lead only to see the other team come back. The Raiders took a one point lead on a bucket by Tim Sinn with :38 left. Tenacious defense by WT forced a wild shot by Wynford, but a long carom and put back shot by all-stater, Gephart, found the hole at the buzzer and turned the Raider dream into a nightmare.

Fans Back Raiders In Victory And Defeat

Top Right: Raiders welcomed home from Dayton.

Right: Tim gives his thoughts on regional win.

Sounds of Defense, Go Blue, and rhythmic clapping from Raider fans when the team needed a lift played an important part of the team's success. Tourney fever built slowly, but was at a fever pitch by the regionals. A five mile caravan from Paulding to Trace greeted the team for a rally after the Toledo win. This set the scene for the wild week before state. The team kept its composure, but the communities went wild. Mrs. Sinn sold thousands of tickets and Kathie hundreds of T-shirts, as press and TV converged on Trace. An early-morning rally sent off the team to Dayton. The Raider fans gave their all as did the team, but victory eluded the Raiders. But Raider fans back the team in defeat as well as victory. A welcome home rally filled the gym as area radio stations broadcast the festivities. As Marv Sebring of WONW said, "This team is special and remember you are the first boys team from Paulding County to make the state finals. Be proud of that!" Emotions ran high, but the fans expressed their love for and pride in the Raiders.

*O*n Homecoming Night, the rain caused a delay in the crowning of our Homecoming Queen until the next night. Unfortunately, the Wayne Trace Raiders were defeated by the Fairview Apaches. At the dance the following evening, Jenifer Stabler received the title of 1986 Homecoming Queen. She and her court reigned over the students who attended the dance. The exhilarating, and pulsating music was provided by Acoustic Reproductions. "Cherish the Love" reflected fun and excitement for all. Even though the evening didn't start off on the best of terms, the romantic mood surrounding the event brightened the affair. Homecoming Spirit was not dampened.

Are you sure it's that big?

Everyone enjoys the Homecoming Dance

Stand back and let us show you how it's done.

Homecoming Spirit Shines

The students at Wayne Trace High School showed their Homecoming Spirit with great enthusiasm. The cheerleaders sponsored a week geared to set the mood for the big game against the Fairview Apaches. This very special week consisted of hat, shade, and tie day; trash-bag day; dress-up day; a day in the tropics; and Raider day. To further show their spirit, each class created their own cheer and designed a class banner that was displayed at the pep session at the end of the week. A committee made up of faculty and students chose the Student Council Banner as being most creative.

Spirit Reigns At WT

The spirit at WT began with a bang this year with a rousing homecoming rally in support of the football team. It built with the improved football team. Spirit really skyrocketed with the success of the basketball team. The gym echoed with shouts of We Are Wayne Trace and Go Blue as the team traveled the road to success. The other teams were not forgotten as they received recognition also for their accomplishments. Pep sessions were video taped upon request of other schools to show off Raider Spirit!

Scholastic Team Competitive

Team Members Chosen From Raider Bowl Competitors

Sue contemplates question while Chris stares blankly.

These are our thinking caps.

Jason finds the question amusing.

The Scholastic Bowl team challenged other schools with two seniors, Jim and John, and a host of juniors. They did well as they competed in area tournaments, placing second at Fairview. Not only did they host their own tournament, won by Crestview, but also the GMC conference bowl, won by Fairview. They also competed in two Knowledge Master Computer competitions. Team members were selected from the Raider Bowl—four teams made up of three students from each grade. Mr. Pressler's team won the competition. And, oh yes, Stacy, there are more than six countries in the world!

Hunt Showcases Student Talent

Some chose to sing, some to dance, and still others to play their instruments, but all showed tremendous ability at the Wayne Trace Talent Hunt. Lynn Keyes won first place for her singing and signing rendition. Brent Tow pounded out a drum solo while Gary Stegaman expounded on what the U.S. means to him. Brad Volk and Matt Schlatter presented Fame, which became the send-off song for the Raiders ball team. Kris Hatcher and Linda Bess interpreted a modern dance. Many others also displayed their performing ability to show that there is talent at WTHS.

Lynn takes the honor of first.

Kris, are you in pain?

Hold still, bug, you're going to meet your maker.

Assemblies Add Spice to Wayne Trace Routine

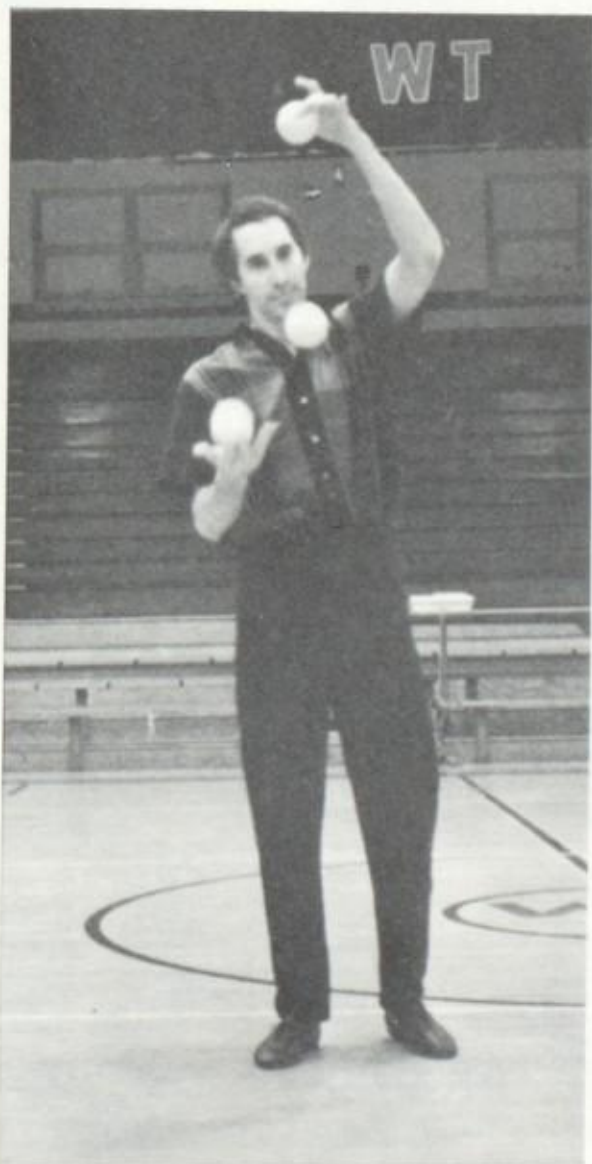

John Reed speaks on his experience with drunk driving.

Santa, isn't he cute, I want one just like him!

The South Carolina Theatre Co. presents another fantastic assembly.

The Bowling Green Women's Chorus' finest four.

Bottom Left: Now how am I going to grab that ball?

Mr. McElroy has his projector loaded for the movie.

Throughout the school year, the student body was given the opportunity to watch many assemblies. One of the first was the dramatic presentation by the South Carolina Theatre Company. Milton Dickerson and Tim Hart portrayed many of our country's presidents. The Bowling Green University Women's Chorus sang several sets, including a special barbershop quartet. John Reed presented us with a serious look at the results of drinking and driving. A multi-talented mime amazed and astounded us all with his skits and juggling acts. Ranger Horton reminded us of several patriotic men who struggled to make our country what it is today. The Student Council provided the movie, "Better Off Dead," for an afternoon of entertainment. And who could ever forget the stupendous Christmas assembly put on by the Council? Yes, assemblies managed to enliven the daily routine of Wayne Trace.

Smile, Jean, Traci's watching.

Even though the freshmen were inconvenienced with the delay of the Spring Fantasy Dance because of the state basketball tourney and competition from the Basketball Marathon, they managed to present the student body with an enjoyable evening. Music provided by Soundwave Productions pulsated throughout the gymnasium, rocking the dancers to a feverish pitch. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen and the recognition of the court. Many remained until the last song, realizing that this was the final all high school dance of the 86-87 year.*

Southern Hospitality Alive At Prom

Smile, Rex, act like you're having fun!

What a happy couple!

Aw, come on, knock it off!

Top: Many couples enjoy an evening of romance.

Once again, as is tradition at Wayne Trace every April, guys rushed around to order their tuxedos, and girls combed the many stores in search of that just perfect gown. On Saturday, the second of May, they donned their formal wear and headed for the gym. There, the seniors found it to be magically transformed into, "One Endless Night at Tara," the 1987 Junior-Senior Prom. Of course, the pit was of no surprise to the juniors, for they spent long, hard hours laboring over their creation. "The Band on the Run" provided the entertainment for the romantic evening. Afterwards, many traveled to Van Wert Cinemas for TOP GUN and then went back to the school for a breakfast provided by TNT.

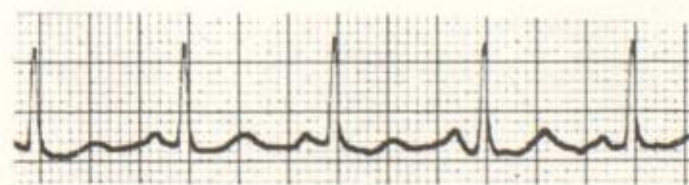

Hugh Heffner, eat your heart out!

Show those pearly whites.

Students Gain Many Awards

*A*cademic efforts of students are recognized at Awards Night. Among the students honored were those on the Honor Roll each nine weeks, especially Steve Hall and Sue Wyatt for earning all A's each nine weeks. Lisa Mathews attained one of the hardests to win—four years' perfect attendance. Department awards were won by Brent Williams, Jim Sherry, Renee Klarr, Mike Galyk, Bruce Copsey, and Lisa Mathews. Mr. Kesler capped off the evening by presenting Valedictorian, Mark Begley, and Salutatorian, Renee Klarr, with plaques.

Some frosh can't even pay attention when receiving awards.

Dedication is having perfect attendance for four years!

Jim, please not so tight, you're hurting my hand.

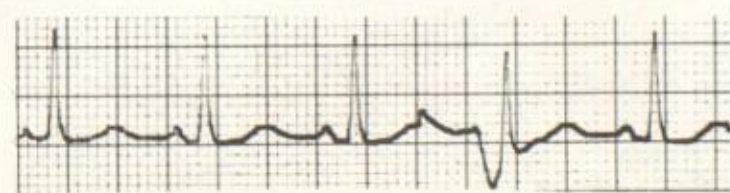

Rick tries to get ahead of the group.

Who has their pants down back there??

Mr. Kesler congratulates Salutatorian, Renee.

Cody receives the WTEA/William Spitzer Scholarship Award.

Jean received the Paulding Insurance Agents Scholarship.

Heartbeat of Seniors

August 26, 1986, it had only seemed like a few days ago when we turned off that annoying alarm clock buzzing in our ears. The summer of sleeping until noon was fantastic, but we had waited for this day for 11 years: our Senior year. This was our time in the spotlight and we knew it was going to be magical. We assumed our rightful leadership roles. We illuminated our winning Raider spirit by being declared Spirit Chain Champions during Homecoming and despite torrents of rain, sold 250 gallons of cider at the game. We ordered our caps, gown, and announcements. This was it, we had launched into the best year of our lives.

We love our Raiders, oh yes we do!

The school still hasn't changed since we left 50 years ago!

Best of friends!

We finally began seeing our Senioralities in the TRACER, learning everyone's favorites and pet peeves and we realized that we were on the count down toward graduation. This was reason for celebration, of course, which always ended up at Gross's Party Central. The yearbook ad staff had an adventurous outing journeying to many local businesses. We suffered through Mr. McElroy's endless supply of worksheets and assignments. In November we began campaigning for candidates and we held mock elections. Mike Fast traveled to State in Cross Country.

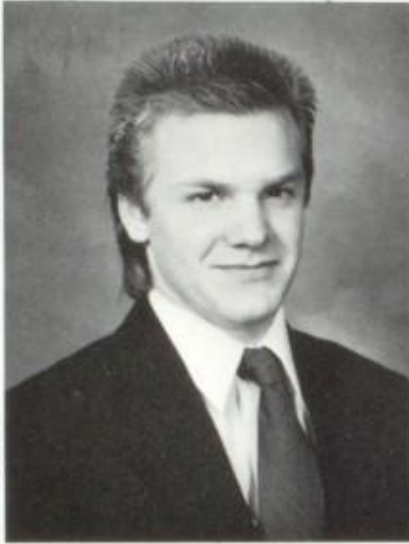

Heartbeat of Seniors

*I*t soon became a chore to climb out of bed every morning. Many of us waited until the last possible minute, only to discover that someone else was in the bathroom and we were really going to be late.

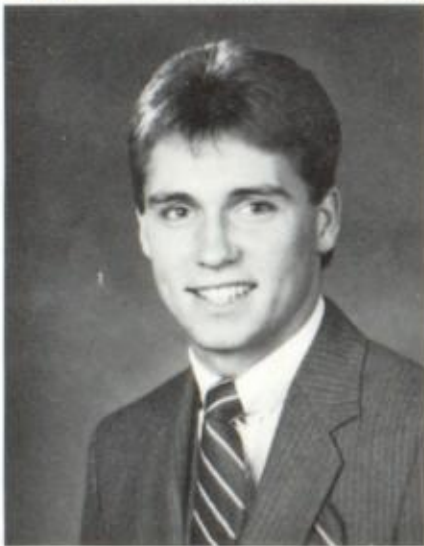

However, some days were more tolerable than others. The couple hours of sleep from the fog delays was much appreciated and the shortened classes raised spirits. We didn't get a reprieve from snow days, but we always discovered a way to escape the work that we were supposed to do. We watched the snow slowly melt as we anxiously waited on Spring to arrive.

Natsuko gets used to WT traditions.

As the flowers sprang through the thawing ground, so did an epidemic of Senioritis. The symptoms of skipping every other day, sneaking naps during class, and hank pranks spread throughout the class. We took a much needed day off: journeying to the University of Toledo with the Spanish Club—and singing "Crimson and Clover over and over" was the highlight of the whole excursion. Mr. Mallott helped us organize our financial needs for college and Natsuko got to experience the wild traditions of WT. With the leadership of five members of our class, the boys basketball team advanced to the state finals. Chris Rosswurm excelled in his sporting talent by qualifying to compete in three state tourneys: golf, basketball, and track.

The rose of remembrance.

Show those pearly whites, Renee!

Thirteen years is a long time to be together as a class. We surely have had our share of rocky times and great ones, but we made it through together. Many friendships were developed and they have remained strong. Friendship night gave us the chance to reminisce and laugh about our class history. Everyone made sure they had a picture of everyone and senior books floated around the room to be signed. Amy Knapp had a great summation of friendship and it goes like this: A friend is ...

- ... someone who listens*
- ... someone to go cruising with*
- ... someone who doesn't judge you*
- ... someone who laughs with you, not at you*
- ... someone who learned to share your interests*
- ... always there*

The Long Awaited Day Finally Arrives

Pastor Davy gives the invocation.

Members listen to fellow classmates.

May 31, 1987,—the culmination of 13 years of education for seniors—burst onto the scene with heat and humidity. However, this did not stifle the anticipation of 86 students who were preparing to end their high school careers. Class members had decorated the gym, prepared speeches, and practiced songs. They arrived to don their caps and gowns, with the girls trying to get their collars on straight and the guys getting their flowers pinned on. At the appointed time they headed for the hall to line up for their entrance. They also worried if Kevin and Mark would make it on time as they were involved in an accident on the way. (They did and weren't seriously injured). Finally 2:30 and the strains of Pomp and Circumstance sounded as the class was led in by Honor Guards, Stacy and Paul. After the invocation by Pastor Davy, Lynn and Mike sing about "Friends." Andi remembered the joys and triumphs of the class over the years and said goodbye to her friends. John pondered on the Pride of Wayne Trace in athletics and academics. The Senior choir members told classmates it was "Time To Fly." Renee admonished classmates to work on their goals and dreams to make a brighter tomorrow. Finally, Mark said that despite everything, the most important part of school was the friendships formed. Then diplomas were handed out, tassles moved, benediction given and it was time to face the world as Alumni of Wayne Trace High School.

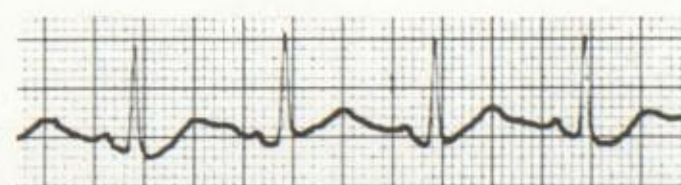

I just hope it's signed.

This is a happy occasion, guys!

Choir tells class it's "Time To Fly."

Old Coach With New Job, Tom McCord Leads Football Team To Improved Season

Enthusiasm Returns To Gridiron

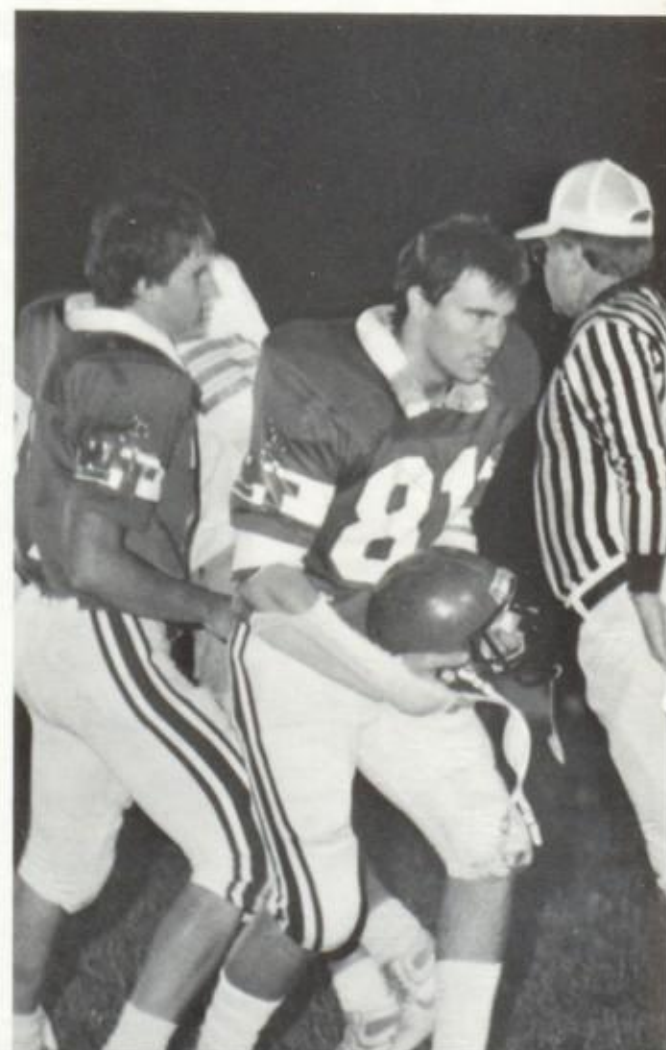

The football season opened with the promotion of Coach Tom McCord to the head coaching position. Summer practices had the coaches putting emphasis on fundamentals: Coach Rossfeld working with linemen, Coach Etzler working with ends and receivers, and Coach McCord with backs. Many people volunteered their help such as Mike Lee, Mick Proxmire, Leman Saylor, and Mike Bok. After the season started, the Raiders found themselves at 0-3, but playing quality football. The team's improvement in wins over Holgate, Tinora, Edon, and Antwerp led to a 4-6 season. There were many highlights in the season. Chris Sanderson broke school records by gaining 1289 yards in a season, 259 yards in a game, and a 93 yard run leading the offensive attack while Jim Glass with 94 tackles led the defense. The JV team strived for improvement all year. Each week they sharpened their skills by scrimmaging the varsity. Their endless patience, dedication, and perseverance will prove valuable as they lead next year's varsity. Special awards went to Jim Glass, Most Valuable Player, Chris Sanderson, Most Valuable Back, Mike Speice, Most Valuable Lineman, John Asher, Most Improved Varsity, Chris Etzler, Most Improved JV and Wade Overmyer, Coaches' Award. Jim and Chris earned 1st team GMC honors while John and Mike earned honorable mention. Chris won 2nd team district honors and Jim, special mention. The team returns a nucleus of lettermen and experienced coaches for a bright football future.

And here they come!

Jim and Steve win another toss.

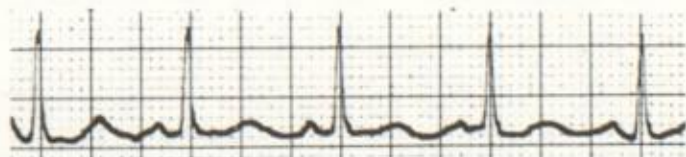

CRUNCH TIME in WTHS Football

Chris Sanderson, who broke the school record by rushing for 1289 yards, stated on that event, "It was the high point of my season and it felt good to accomplish it." Chris also commented, "It was a good season because of the teamwork and support on and off the field." Looking forward for next season, Chris feels "the teamwork and support will be there as it was this year."

Defense prepares to stop them.

Steph anxiously awaits the next serve

The 1986 Volleyball season was like a rollercoaster full of highs and lows. The Varsity's season started out roughly because their first game was rained out (yes, rained out because of a leaky roof!). Throughout the rest of the season, though, the team played hard and, although it had difficulties on Saturdays, finished the season with a winning record of 13-10. As a whole, the team's high point was the Antwerp game. On their home court, the Lady Raiders played their toughest and won the contest in a nerve wracking finish. This key victory helped clinch a tie with Tinora and Antwerp in the Green Meadows Conference. The JV also had a successful season. They finished the season with a record of 12-8, and show lots of potential in future seasons.

So what's the hold-up??? I'm ready to play!

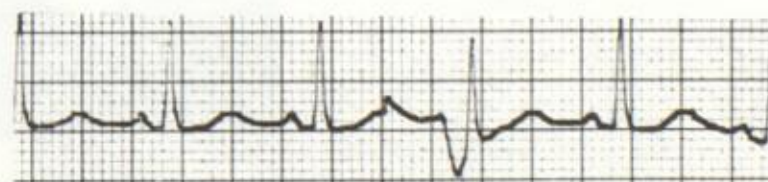

Cross country, unlike other sports, is almost 100 percent individual work. The team started practice during the summer and continued to work hard all through the season. The harriers competed in meets with up to 100 runners and the competition was tough. Despite the low numbers on the team, the Raiders placed respectably in their meets. They were represented by Cindy and Mike in the regional and state meets. With many underclassmen on the team, their success should continue.

Cindy Youtsey, a junior, was chosen Most Valuable Player for the girls cross country team this year. She said, "I feel very honored to receive this award because I worked hard all season to do my best." She continues, "I would like to see more people in cross country so they can have the great experience that I've had."

Golfers Successful Again; Win GMC

If you're looking for your ball, Adam, it's still right beside you.

Chris Rosswurm on going to state: "It was like a dream come true for me because I've always dreamed of it as a kid. It was a great time . . . the best part was rooming with Rocket; he was probably more nervous than I was . . . that was the funny part about it."

Far Right: JB makes another calculated putt.

Practice rounds in the summer paid off as the Raider golfers ended with an 11-2 dual-meet record, losing only to Van Wert. The Raiders captured another GMC championship and placed second in the district meet and sixth in the regionals. Chris Ross-wurm led the Raiders with an impressive 39.7 hole average. Chris qualified for state where he shot a first round score of 79 and a second round of 80 to place 12th in the state. Chris, Mike Lamb, and Bruce Copsey were GMC 1st team while Adam Treat placed on the 2nd team and Tim Richardson was Honorable Mention. Congratulations on a great season!

Bruce sizes up his next shot.

Maybe if I get a running start . . .

This is my determined look.

Cheerleaders Promote "Mounting" Excitement With Cheer Partners

Tim, Jamie, Keith Lend Strength to Building Mounts

Anyone who attended a basketball game this year, give yourself a pat on the back. Why? Because you helped make cheerleading worthwhile. A cheerleader's job is to get the crowd excited and involved. At WT this is seldom difficult, but a cheerleader also works behind the scenes even harder making hallway signs, scrapbooks, locker signs, planning pep sessions, and practicing all those cheers and dance routines for your enjoyment. This year the girls went one step further by cheering for girls' home games. Also, the varsity and JV squads added cheer partners so they could build mounts with the strength of the guys on the bottom. This raised a lot of eyebrows and got some "oohs" and "ahhs" from spectators. Unlike other athletes, cheerleaders do all that they do for what sometimes seems like nothing. So the next time you see one of our cheerleaders, recognize some of the hard work she's done and give her a pat on the back. After all, she deserves it.

Frosh show their spirit.

I'm proud to be a Raider

Top: I hope they catch me!!!

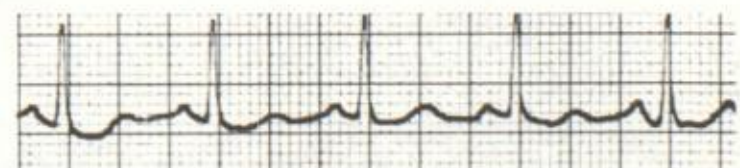

One small step for us . . . one giant step for Raider spirit.

JV shows their stuff.

Having cheer partners added an exciting, positive and new dimension to cheerleading this year. The addition was a real challenge involving extra practice hours and extra patience. The guys helped build up the cheerleading program even further, and we hope to see more from them in season to come.

Yes, that's right, we love our team!

Girls Basketball Improves Record

*Varsity Wins 1st In Two Seasons; JV, Playing

Karen tries out a new dance step.

A nail-biting situation

Up for two.

Far Right: Amy anticipates a shot.

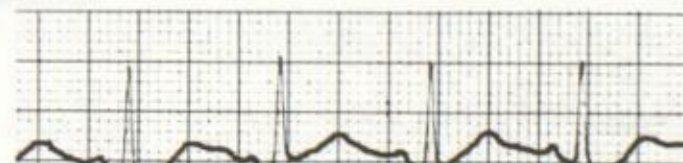

The girls basketball teams were coached by Steve Hook and Jennifer Saylor. The Varsity, winning its first games in two years, had a record of 2-17, while the JV played to a 13-6 season. Although their records do not show it, the teams improved, showed greater athletic skills, and promise of a better future. The upperclassmen provided the leadership, but underclassmen attained a lot of playing time. The Raiders were in many of the ball games, but lacked the experience to pull out the win. With the development of the younger players, this situation should reverse itself. At the Winter Sports Banquet several players received awards. Most Improved JV went to Tabbetha Shaffer, Most Valuable Varsity to Angie Hall, Most Improved Varsity to Lee Ann Cramer and Sue Stoller, and the Mental Attitude Award to Karen Yoh.

Angie towers above the opponents.

Bottom; Tony Marsh for 2.

Paul takes the corner shot.

How could you make that call?

Nick DiFlora, senior power forward, impressed many with his work on the boards and power moves. He worked hard on defense and came up with crucial boards and baskets and perhaps played his finest game at state. His motto might be, "Outta my way little fella, this is a man's game."

JV Team Molds A 19-1 Season

Tony moves the ball to the corner.

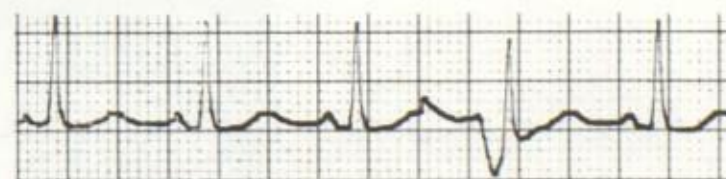

Troy sets up for his favorite shot.

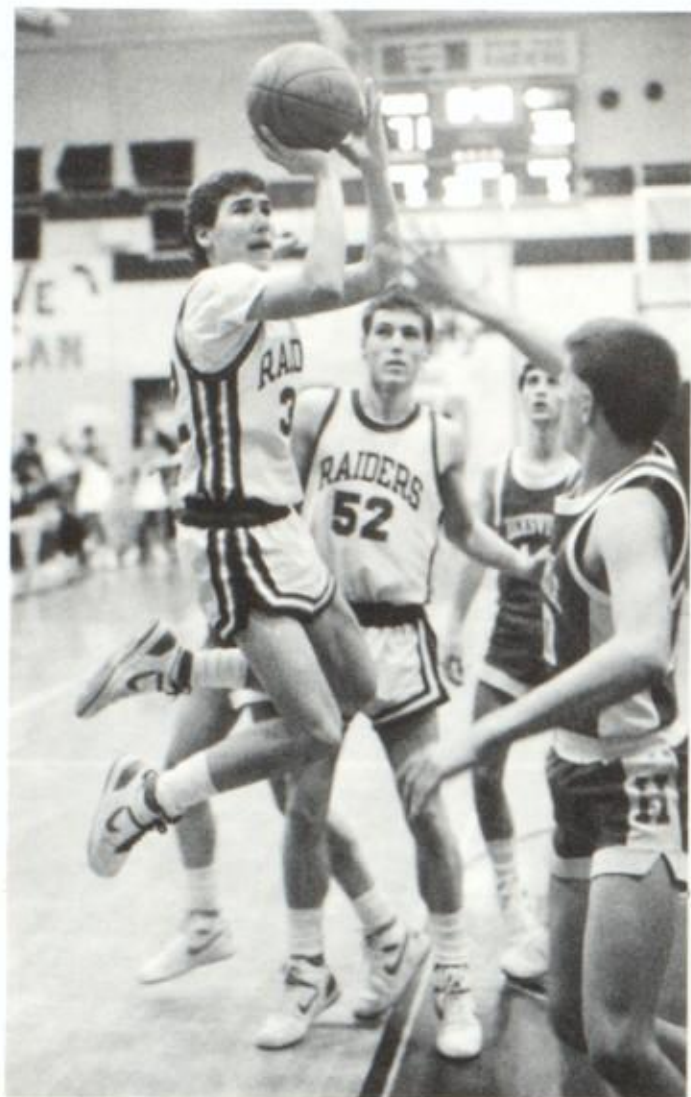

Bruce applies pressure on the press.

Anticipation for the basketball season ran high at WT as the Raiders returned four starters from last year's team. Noone was disappointed as the team went 18-2 in regular season, 24-3 overall, and reached the state finals. The team showed versatility as they pressed and ran when they could, and after the Antwerp game, showed they could play slow-down ball with anyone. The three defeats came from Van Wert, Antwerp, and Wynford by a total of 5 points—all on last second shots. The team won their fourth straight

GMC crown as well as Sectional, District, and Regional titles. Who can forget the accurate shooting of Tony Marsh, the drives and passes of Rob Davis, the power moves of Nick DiFlora, the finesse and defense of Chris Rosswurm, or the slams by Steve Hall. The starters had able back-up in Paul Gerber, Tim Sinn, Bruce Copsey, and Brent Tow. Steve became the first Raider to achieve first team all state and to score 1000 points. The achievements of the 86-87 Raiders will stand for many years.

Chris pumps for 2.

Wade works for the opening.

Far Right: You can't catch a pass like that Shawn!

The JV Raiders provided lots of excitement for fans as they hustled to a 19-1 season. A pressing defense with many fast break buckets highlighted the JV play. Coach Saylor rotated the players successfully as all got lots of playing time. Chris Etzler came on to pick up the Most Improved Player Award. The Frosh improved and gained confidence as they won several close games. This confidence carried them to two victories in the GMC tournament before falling in the finals. Ken Speice picked up the Most Improved Award.

Eric, this is no time to sit down!

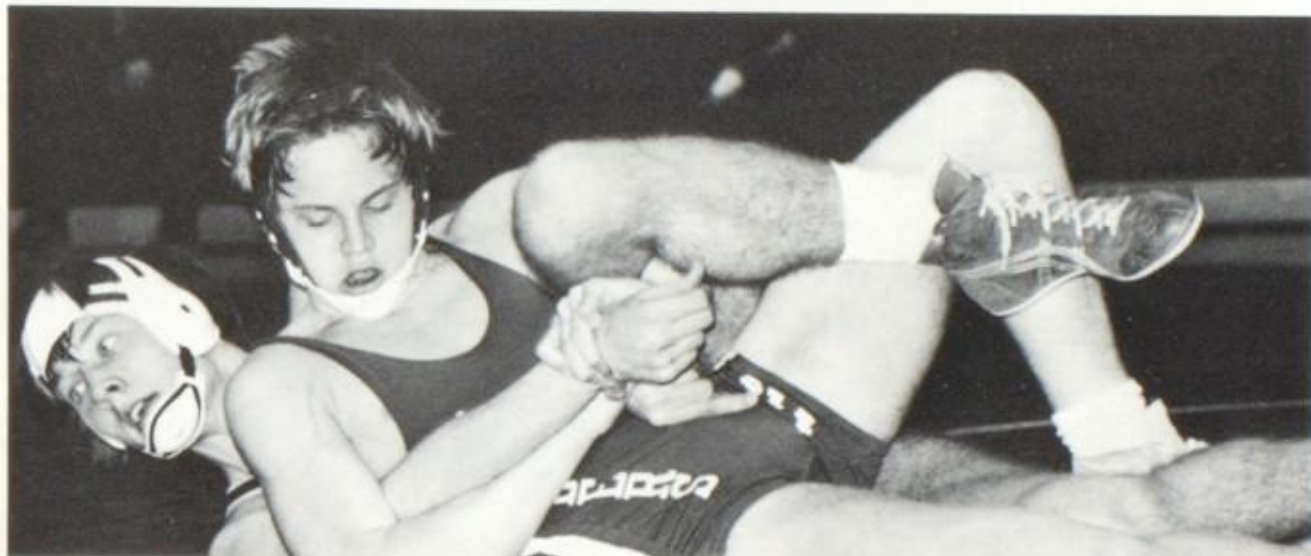

The WT wrestling team finished the season with a 1-12-1 dual meet record. The wrestlers placed 8th in the Wayne Trace Invitational, 6th at the Hicksville Invitational, 5th at the Green Meadows Conference tournament and 10th at Districts. Billy Collins advanced to the regional tournament. 1987 was a regrouping year for the grapplers. The four seniors will be greatly missed—Tim Richardson, Sam Kesler, Tom Wirts, and Mike Potter. Next year the team returns 12 letter winners and has a very promising future.

Center: I hope this landing is soft.

The boys' team featured senior leadership, while the girls' was dominated by underclassmen. The girls won the Archbold "A" relays and both teams won the WT relays. The girls emerged by the end of the season with the experience to qualify several runners for the regionals. The boys with Mike Fast and Chris Rosswurm leading the way also qualified in several regional events. However, only Chris competed at state (making his third appearance of the year in a state event) in the high hurdles where he placed fifth and set a new WT record.

Despite a late start the baseball team carved out a successful season finishing the year with a 15-6 record. Led by seniors Rob Davis and Steve Sinn, the team won its first ever GMC Title with a perfect 7-0 record. Offensively the team was never shut out in their six losses, as hitting was a strength of the team. Although the Raiders didn't advance as far as they'd hoped in tournament, they made a good effort losing 7-3 to Parkway, the eventual state champs. With a nucleus of returning lettermen, the team will be strong for seasons to come.

I'm ready, now where's the rest of the team?!

Geez, guys, don't look at me like that! It was an honest mistake.

Is he safe . . . or is he out??

Rob Davis was a stalwart on the mound for the Raiders. He possessed one of the lowest ERAs in the area and took the mound in most crucial games.

Raiders Honor Parents

The proud Speices

This is one last time for them.

The Zimmermans

Upper Right: Hope we can win this one for you.

The mighty Tim and his Mother.

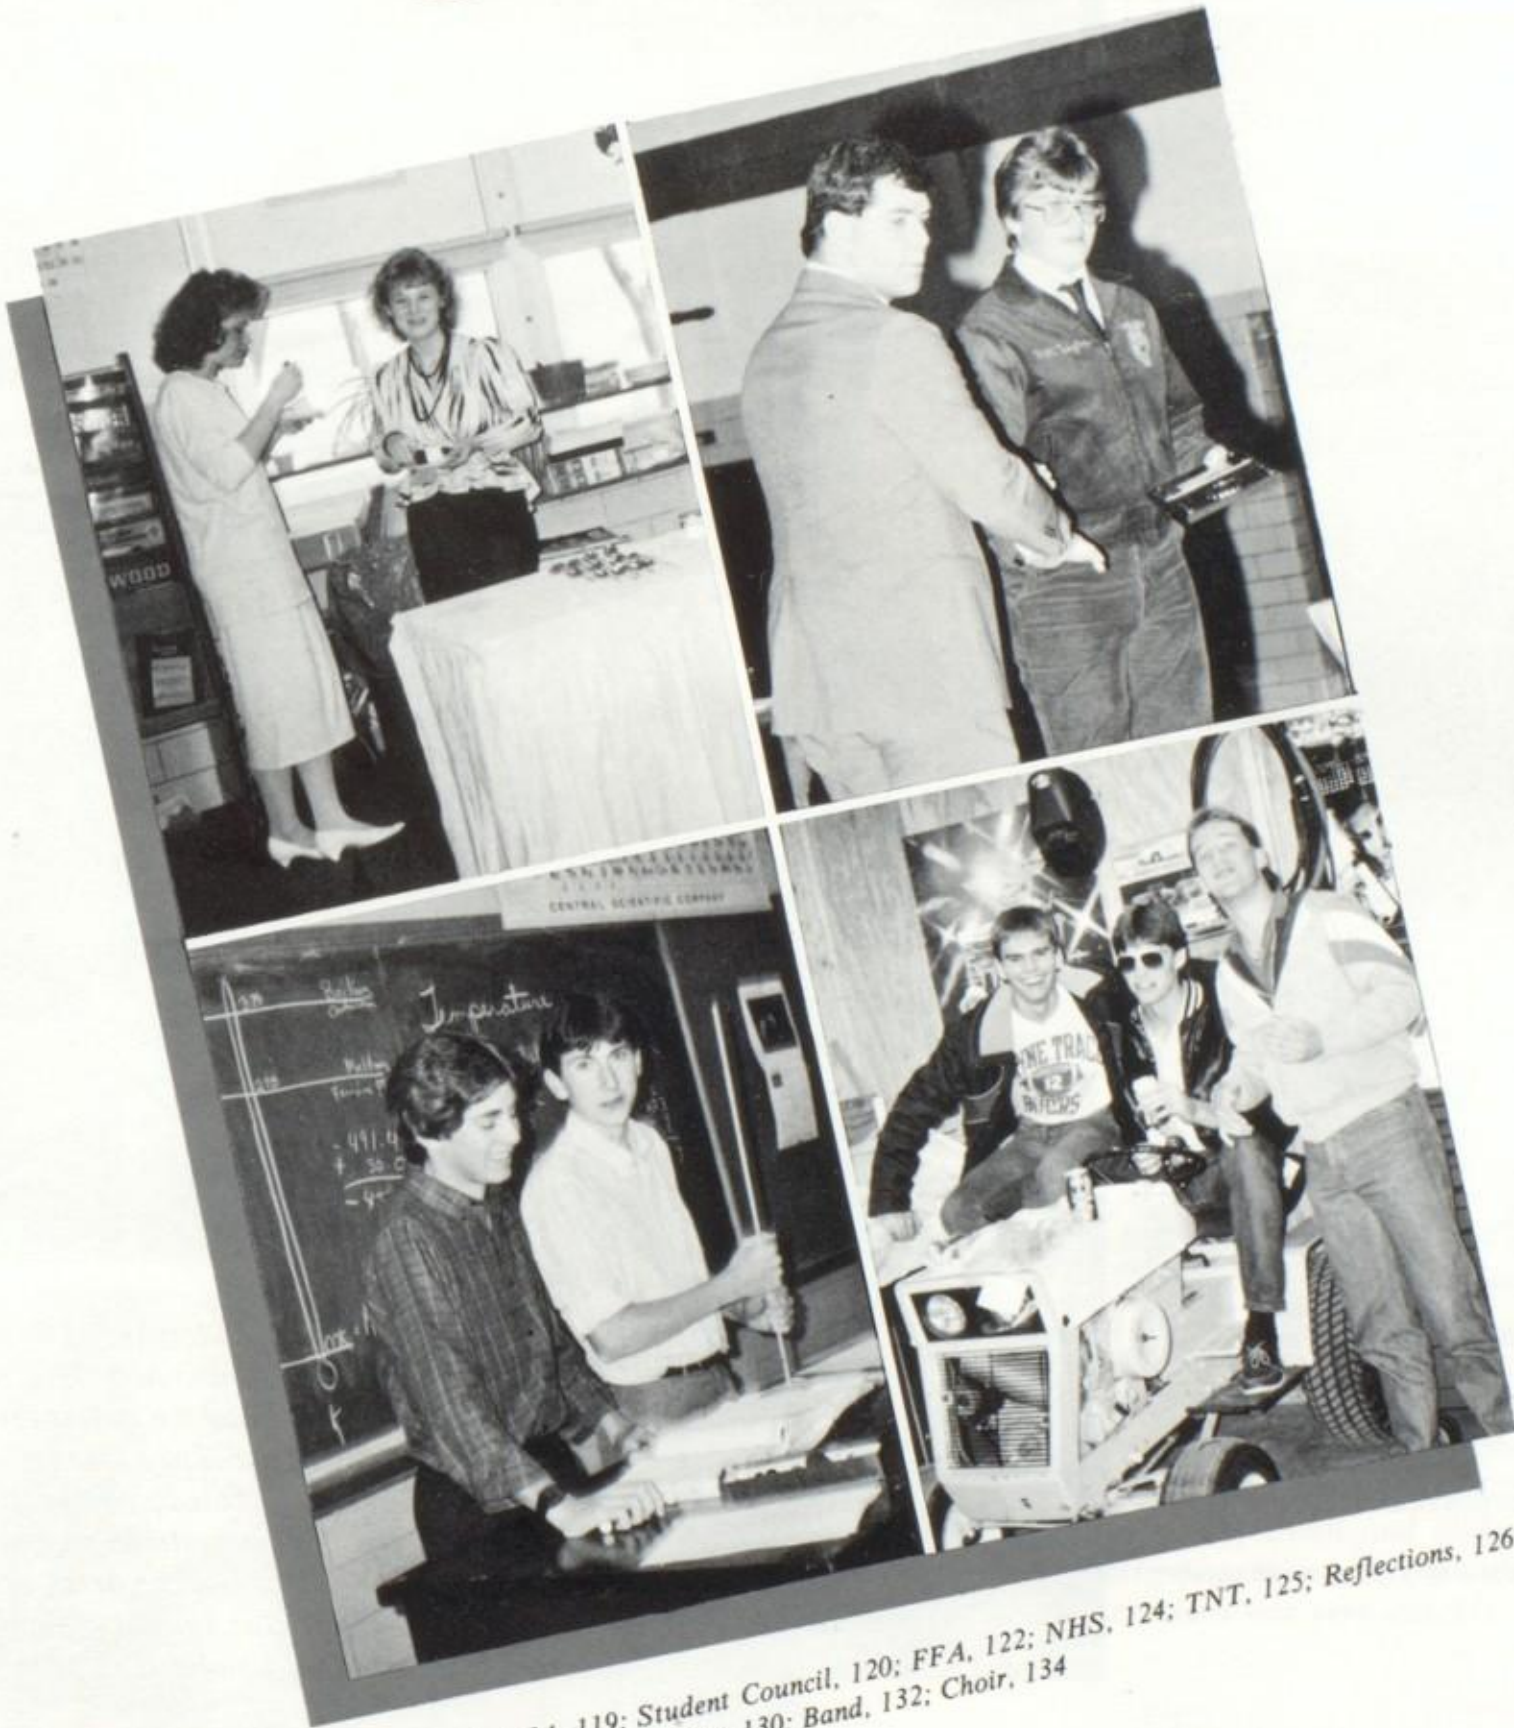

Far Right: The Halls have more than one athlete in the family.

Parents of Raider athletes are very supportive of their children and the WT athletic department. They haul their kids to and from practice, juggle dinner times (especially if they have more than one student in sports), sit frozen at football games, stand in line for basketball games, and give just the right encouraging word when things aren't going well. For all this effort, the athletic department puts the parents in the spotlight at one game.

Learning about all facets of education is one goal of the LFTA. Mr. Ladd explained school financing and the bond issue. Students became teachers' aides, graded papers, and worked in the library and offices. They journeyed to Parc Lane to see that school in action. The most exciting part, however, was teaching in the high school and elementary. Preparing lesson plans, grading papers, and being on their feet all day wore the student teachers out very quickly.

Council Is Active

John Asher Heads Group

Student Council, the governing body of WT students, planned several assemblies and held a successful candy sale. Homecoming festivities were dampened by a torrential downpour, but that didn't dampen the remainder of the year. The Christmas assembly, under the guidance of Andi Lanz, entertained and sent the students off on break laughing. A computer-match survey presented students the names of their perfect dates in time for Valentine's Day. The annual movie was a big hit, while the candy sales provided the Council with funds to operate next year. 1987 ended with officer elections and John Asher turning over the gavel to '88 president, Tim Sinn.

Aggies search for rotten citrus.

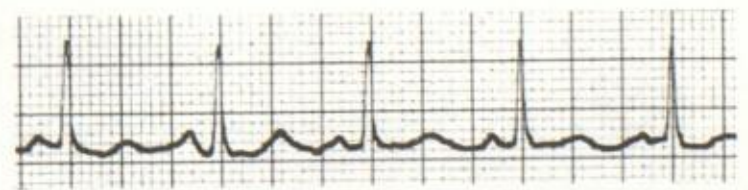

Future Farmers of America is a very busy organization at WT. The parliamentary teams, soil judging, and many other teams compete in various contests. Gary Stegaman received a gold rating in the speech contest. Several members traveled to Kansas City for the national convention, while more journeyed to Columbus for the state convention. Audie Davis, Mike Gribble, Gary Stegaman, and Tracy Wolford took part in the music groups. Cody Stoller received his state farmer degree there in impressive ceremonies. The Aggie basketball team, after an up and down season, won the basketball tourney by defeating Crestview in the finals. Members also held their annual hog roast in the fall and pancake and sausage breakfast in the spring. Members were sold at auction to raise money for their projects. Brent Yenser brought the most money, but Brent and Brad bought Mr. Rossfeld and plan to put him to work. The annual banquet brought the FFA year to a close with many members receiving awards for their projects. Alumnus, Tony Zartman, was recognized for getting through the state judging for his American Farmer Degree and will hear later whether it will be conferred. Cody Stoller was named the Outstanding FFA Member for 1987.

One of the club's goals is to educate students on the dangers of drugs and alcohol, especially when mixed with a car. Members presented skits to health classes and served refreshments at county-wide drug abuse meetings. Operation Prom/Graduation was sponsored by TNT. Students signed pledge cards not to drink and drive during the prom and graduation season. Breakfast for prom goers at the high school wound up the active first year for TNT.

Staff Tried New Ideas To Keep 86-87 Lasting Memory

Reflections of '87 represents a year-long project to present WT in words and pictures. The staff was receptive to trying new ideas in layout, design, and theme. Mark drew pages and pages and pages of layouts, while being told constantly, "We need more vertical" or "we need more horizontal layouts"—never able to satisfy the section workers. Missy and Michelle spent hours trying to identify underclass mugs. Corky, John, and Sue tackled players to get a quote. Jean, Andi, and Stacy tried to pick those special activity pictures out of hundreds of snaps. Regina, Sue, and Kathy raised the money to present these pages and then tried to talk Miss Warncke out of redrawing all the ad layouts. Karen and Renee typed up all those little caption, body copies, and group names. All learned how to tilt, mortice, and bleed pictures under the direction of Fred. And, of course, Stephanie and Lisa oversaw the entire operation to bring you the Reflections of '87.

Jean, I think we can come up with a good caption for that.

“Do you have your Tracer article in yet,” became the most heard phrase of Renee as she lead the '87 Tracer Troop. Unfortunately, these words were often heard two or three days after the article was due and often only one day before publication date. The staff usually came through and last minute typing, headlining, and cartooning were completed on time. A special State-Bound basketball edition was put out to send the team on their way and remembering seniors made the last issue a 42 page effort.

How many more plants are there?

F*HA members worked hard to earn awards this year. Lana and Tracy received their Encounter Degrees at the State convention, while the Chapter earned the Award of Merit. Members competed at Regional Contest near Mansfield and then rushed back to Elida to cheer on the Raiders in the tourney. Among the different things learned at meetings was how exercise can help your health and longevity as members worked out with aerobics.*

Vantage Builds Leadership, Social Skills

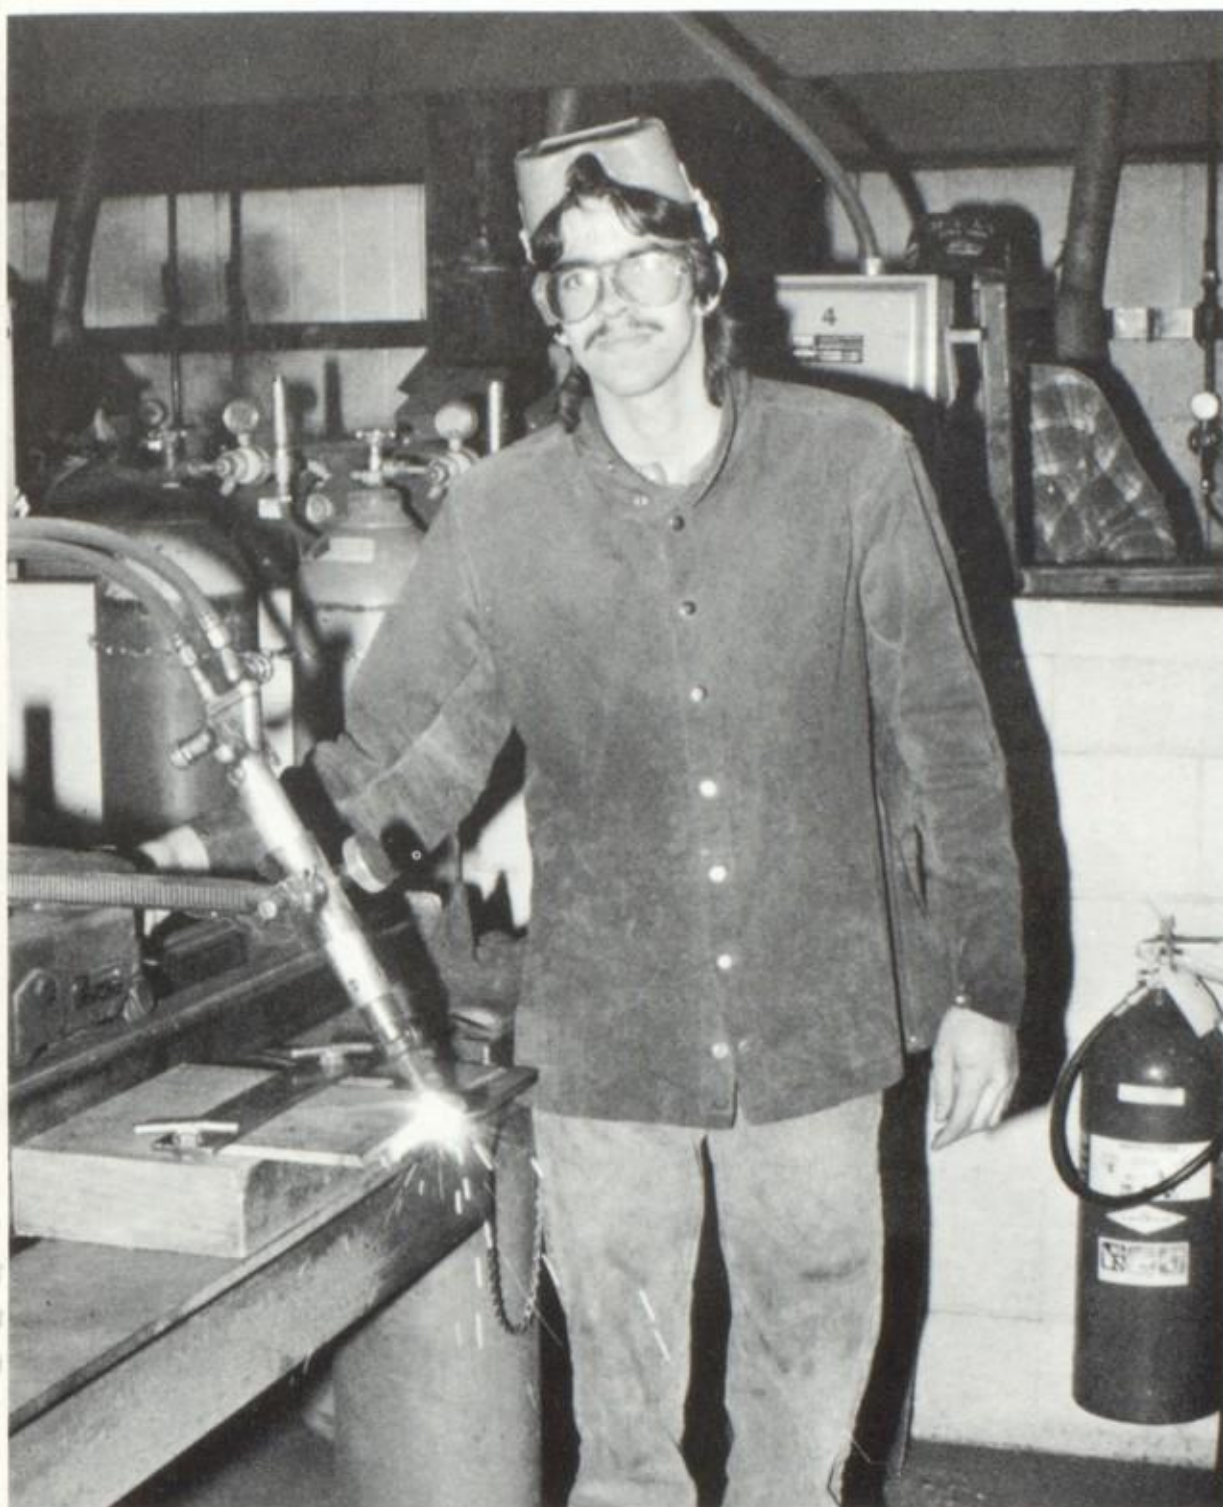

Look what happens, Brian, when we touch these two together.

I love painting two-tone vehicles.

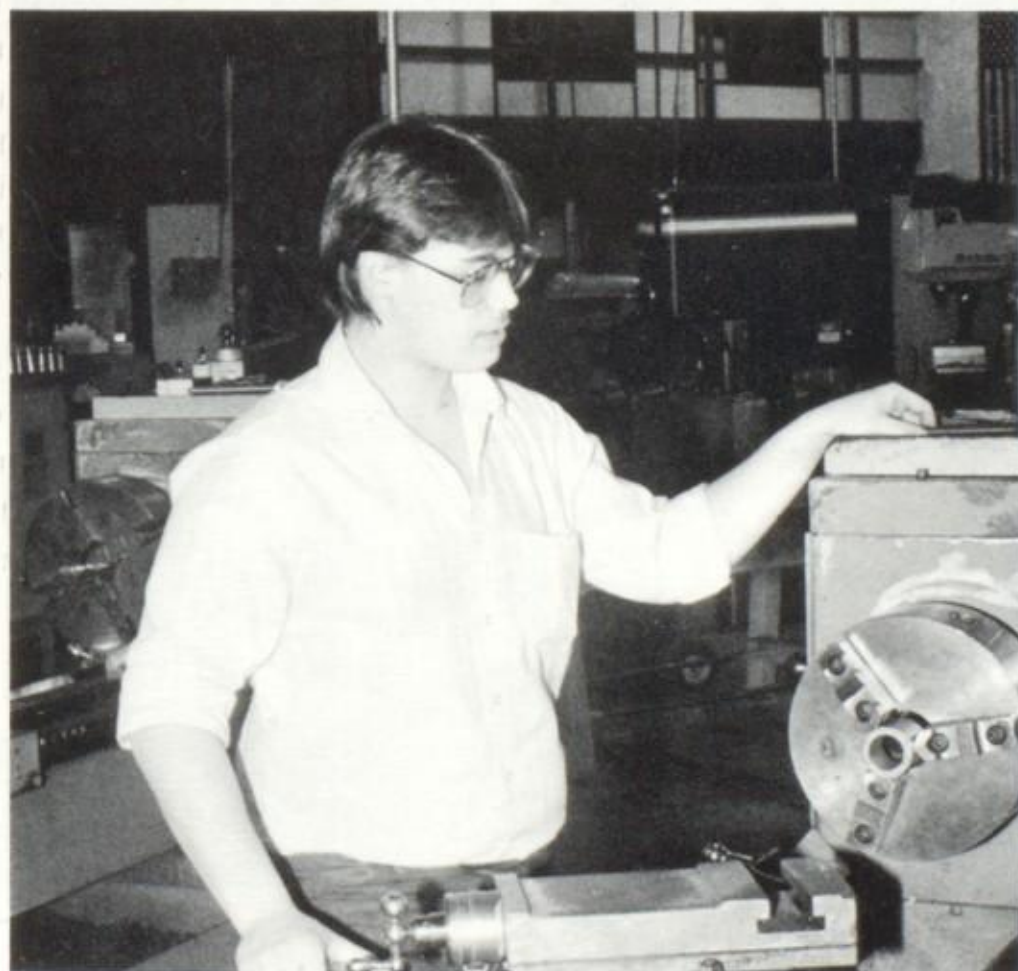

We're majoring in gluing hair.

Opportunities to build leadership skills abound at Vantage Vocational. Learning proper parliamentary procedure during meetings, along with working together on a charitable project are skills needed as adults. Students attend leadership training, participate in skill contest, and go to state and national conventions. All share in making new friends from other schools and working with them in Rock-a-thons and selling citrus. The clubs—VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubmerica, DECA, Distributive Education Clubs of America, FHA/HERO, Future Homemakers/Home Economics Related Occupations, OEA, Office Education Association, and FFA, Future Farmers of America—are an integral part of school life at Vantage.

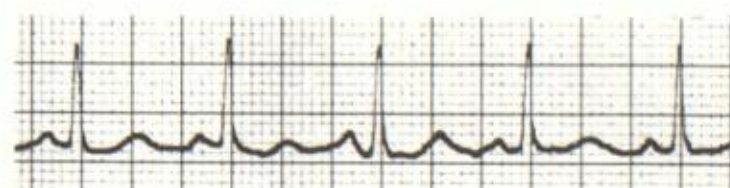

I wear fire-proof clothing.

I know this fits in here someplace.

I'd rather type what I want than a rough-draft letter.

WT band in concert at Christmas assembly.

Fight on for Wayne Trace High . . .

Get ready to step it off.

Pep band adds enthusiasm to pep sessions.

The Spirit Of WT Marches On

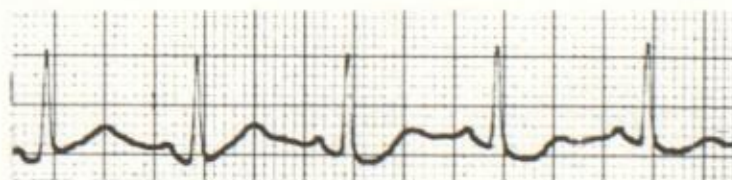

The Spirit of Wayne Trace breaks out into "Fight on for Wayne Trace High" and everyone at the football game knows, WT touchdown! The band adds excitement and enthusiasm to football and basketball games. The year begins with camp to learn the routines for football halftime shows and ends with numerous parades in the summer. In between the musicians present concerts and play at pep sessions and basketball games. This year they sent the team off to Dayton and welcomed them back with a rousing, Wayne Trace, Wayne Trace, Go! Fight! Win! The Spirit of WT is an important part of WT.

The halftime entertainment.

Mr. Dull can be a real monster!

... featuring the woodwinds.

The Joy of Music Resounds WT

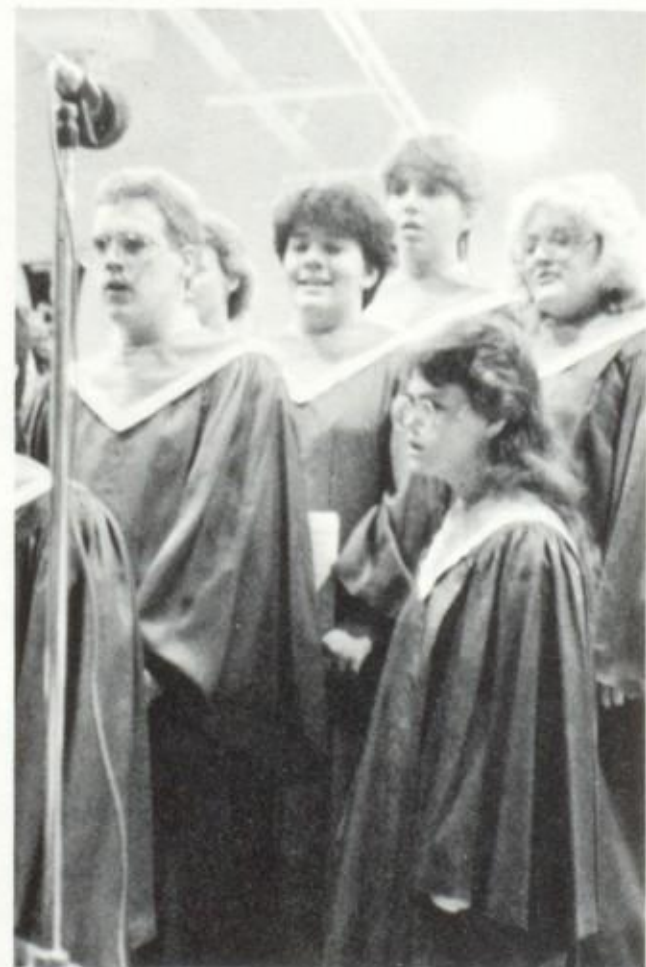

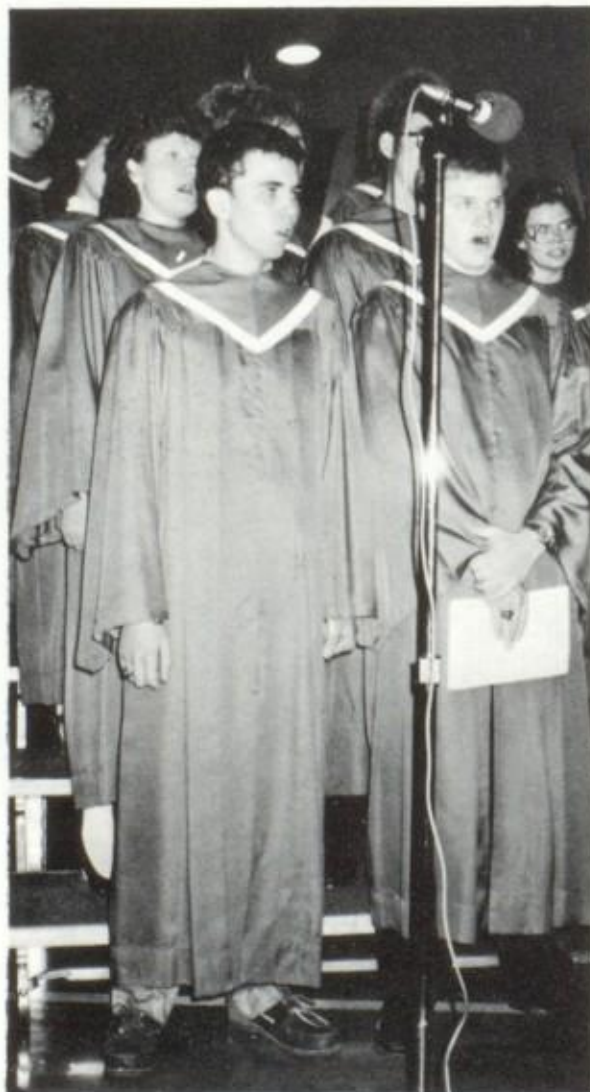

In the spotlight at Defiance mall.

Upper Right: Sing out with joy!

Far Right: I forgot the words

Christmas carols are my favorite.

Choir members had a very active year with concerts and special programs. Christmas found the singers at Defiance Mall singing carols for the shoppers. Their Christmas concert was heard over WERT Radio in Van Wert. Individuals offered solos at the Talent Hunt and the group sang while the votes were tallied. The NHS Induction and the awards concert rounded out their singing year.

Far Right: May I help you?

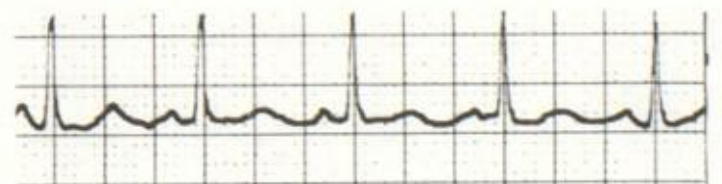

The things you get into when you're the principal.

Superintendent Ladd address the Class of '87.

I 986-87 began very calmly in August with only a few changes taking place over the summer. Mrs. Bandy became the Guidance Counselor as Mrs. Spitzer returned to her math classes. Excitement picked up, however, in November as the bond issue for an addition to the high school passed. While teachers and students went about the classroom routine, the Board, citizens committee and administration gathered information, visited schools, and finalized plans for the building. Endless meetings with architects were held as decisions on where to put electrical outlets and how the cafeteria serving lines would run were made. Excitement reached its peak in March as the basketball team marched its way to the state finals. Tough decisions had to be made about dismissing school and arranging last minute plans for buses for fans. Academics were not forgotten as 19 students placed in the Ohio Tests of Scholastic Achievement. Students registered and received their schedules this spring to eliminate some of the class changes in the fall. The pride and spirit of Wayne Trace, established in previous years, continued to grow and thrive in 86-87.

Eat your heart out Willie Nelson!

Go ahead and ask me about MY weekend!

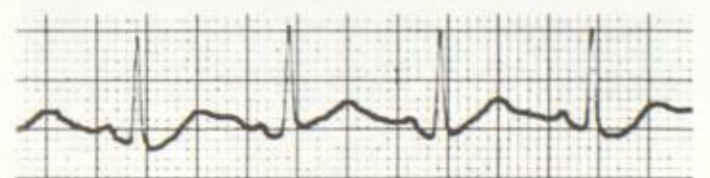

You must have friends to lean on to survive track!

Mrs. Kesler adds a special touch to WT.

Fritz gives the famous thumbs-up!

We were right when we thought Stacy was a little off-balance!

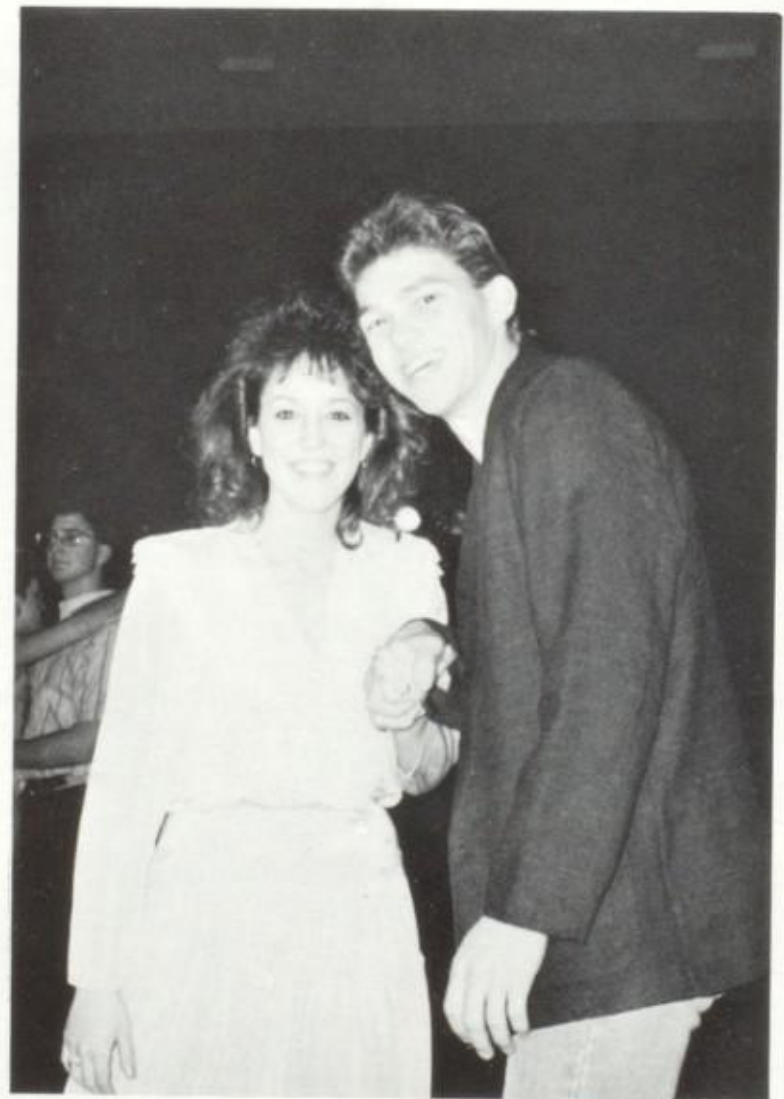

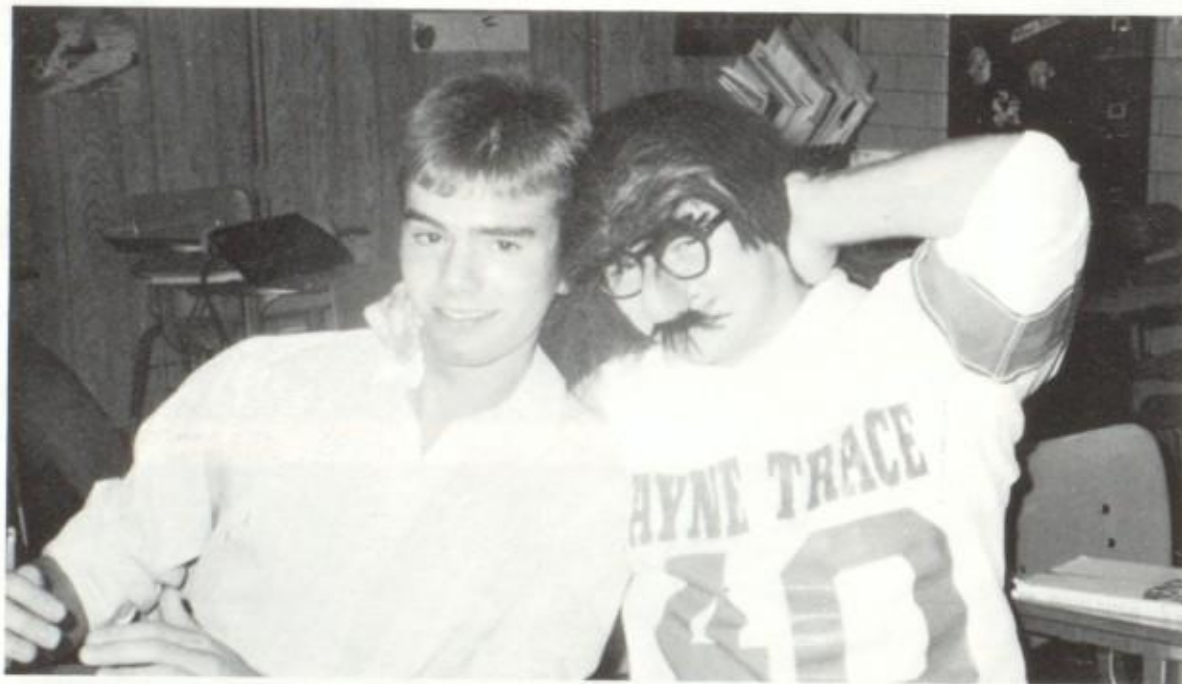

Snoopy says it all!

Dayton extravaganza

... and this is my agent Jerry.

Actually, we're endorsees for Pearl Drops!

Corky expresses her distaste at a sample cover.

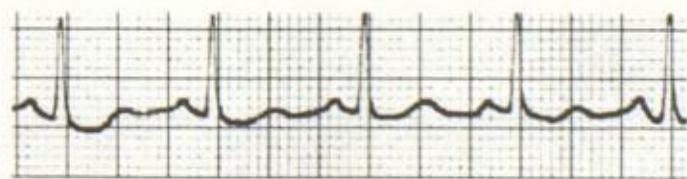

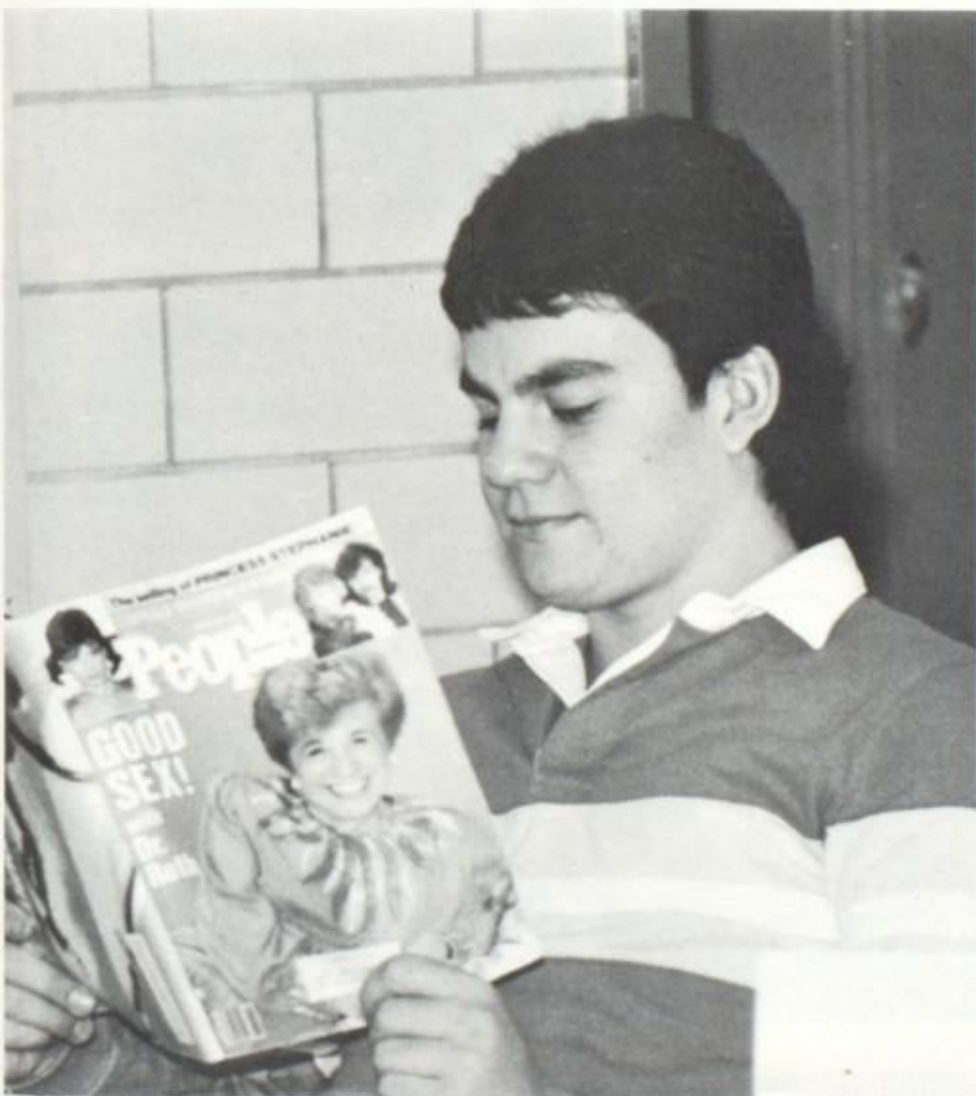

We just love keeping track of all those cute guys in tight pants!

Ok, guys, quit talking dirty in Spanish!

Is that magazine informative, Bob?!

Deadlines amuse me!

Center: Everyone gets caught up in the WT spirit.

Bottom: THE END

Thirty-five pages by the end of today—HA, you've got to be kidding!

The yearbook is a priceless collection of memories. This year we tried many new ideas and styles to create a more creative book for you. Many hours of work have been put into its production for your enjoyment. Much thanks to Miss Warncke, who without her guidance, none of this would have been possible, and to Stephanie Poulson, my assistant editor, for her patience and creativity. Also, many thanks are extended to my dedicated staff for their hard work, Fred Henderson for his many visits and assistance and finally a gigantic thanks to Fritz Ehrhart for the great pictures that made this yearbook special. The Heartbeat of 1987 may have stopped, but we hope this yearbook will keep the memories alive forever.
